CAREER OBJECTIVE

React Native Developer with 3.5+ years of specialized expertise in building high-performance mobile applications (100K+ daily active users), seeking a technical leadership role where I can leverage my experience in cross-platform development and mobile app optimization. Proven track record of reducing app launch times by 25% and implementing modular architecture patterns that improved development efficiency by 30%. Looking to drive technical excellence and mentor development teams at a fast-growing tech company, particularly in the fintech or e-commerce sector where my experience with native modules integration, offline-first architecture, and mobile payment systems can add immediate value.
